DRASTIC ECONOMIC REPRISALS AGAINST JAPAN ARE PLANNED

Great Concern Over Tokyo's Belligerent Movement In South Pacific

REVEALED BY PRES'T
Forecast U. S. Gov't Will Sharply Rebut Vichy Gov't For Its Collaboration

By George Durno
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 25—President Roosevelt planned drastic economic reprisals against Japan today to manifest the Washington Administration's extreme concern and displeasure over Tokyo's belligerent movement into the South Pacific.

It was forecast at the same time that this government would sharply rebuke the Vichy Government of France for collaboration with the Far Eastern wing of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis. Relations with Vichy already have been brought near to the breaking point because of what the State Department insists is unnecessary co-operation with its Nazi conquerors.

There was indicated also a determination on the part of the United States to keep the sea lane open over which Australia is sending essential war goods and foodstuffs to the mother country England, as well as the sea lane which has been delivering critical materials from the Far East to these shores.

Orders freezing Japanese credits in the United States, prohibiting future shipments of vitally-needed American oil to the Japanese war machine, and seizing any Japanese ships that may still be in the United States harbors were anticipated as the first moves to be directed from the President's Hyde Park home. Mr. Roosevelt planned to spend the week-end at the family residence.

Full effect of such action designed to demonstrate that Japan's "aggression" against French Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies are endangering "our national security"—is expected to strike a heavy blow at Japan's reportedly overtaxed military establishment. (The quoted phrases come from Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles' extremely strong warning to Tokyo—issued undoubtedly with White House approval.)

Although last word President Roosevelt received from his Cabinet yesterday afternoon indicated only four Japanese ships to be in United States ports, threat of seizure would strangle one of that country's most profitable trade outlets—her shipments of silk, crabmeat, toys, etc., to this country.

When Mr. Roosevelt boarded his special train close to midnight last night for Hyde Park, Treasury General

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

That Overdue "Close Look"

Washington, July 24. THE other day, viewing the large new appropriations for defense asked for by the President, the Secretary of the Treasury was quoted, in the United States News, as declaring that "the time has come to take a close look at the fiscal picture."

Now, Mr. Morgenthau is the last man anyone would suspect of frivolity—particularly in financial affairs—and sarcasm certainly is not his dish.

HENCE, it may be accepted that when he made that statement he did so in all seriousness. But, what does it imply? Normally, it could be interpreted as meaning that up to now there has been no close examination of the Federal finances; that the facts about our fiscal affairs have been only casually surveyed by those responsible. Yet, Mr. Morgenthau hardly could mean it that way, as that would constitute an indictment not only of himself but of his chief, whose slightest wish is his law.

—O—

UNDOUBTEDLY, it was a curious statement to come from the head of the Treasury; but it is not worth while worrying about whether there were any hidden implications in the Morgenthau words or whether he was just being naive. It is not even worth while to point out that the "close look" which he now urges is long overdue and that, while the present is its most appalling aspect, for several years it has not been possible for anyone with an unclouded mind to take a near view of this picture without alarm.

—O—

RATHER, it seems better to avoid these and other obvious comments and just be grateful that, at last, Mr. Morgenthau thinks the time has

MYSTERY SHROUDS YOUNG MAN'S DISAPPEARANCE

Police Asked to Aid in Finding Ralph Curry, 28, Who Boarded Here

NO REASON ADVANCED

Mystery surrounds the disappearance here yesterday of Ralph Curry, 28, who rented a room of Mrs. John Earll, 322 Wood street.

Relatives of the young man, and police who have been asked to aid in locating him, are mystified over the fact that apparently no clothing is missing from the young man's room at the Earll home.

Young Curry's disappearance was reported to Bristol police yesterday by his father, the last relative to speak with him the several hours before it was found he had left the premises.

According to the elder Curry he arrived at the Earll home, where he too rented a room, at one a. m., yesterday. Noticing that his son Ralph was still up, the father inquired if the son was waiting for him, to which he received a negative reply. The elder Curry then retired to his own room.

Yesterday morning, sometime before the Currys were to report for work at Fleetwings, Inc., Mrs. Earll called the son. It was then that his disappearance was noted. His pajamas were laid across a chair. A careful search of the room by the father revealed as far as he could ascertain that no suits of clothing were missing. It was at first thought that a pair of shoes were gone, but these were also found later.

None of Ralph's hats are missing. As far as the father can learn, all of the young man's clothes are accounted for in the room. This fact further adds to the mystery.

Ralph, it is stated, was engaged to wed a Philadelphia girl, the wedding being scheduled for next month. Yesterday his fiancée, his sister and stepmother came to Bristol to aid the

JAPAN AT THE CROSSROADS

Any temptation to jump at optimistic conclusions regarding the mass resignation of the Japanese cabinet and other developments in Japan must give way before other mature consideration. There is no sign that the fall of the cabinet can eventuate in repudiation of the "new order" or a rapprochement with Britain and the United States. All factors point in the opposite direction.

For example, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye has been directed by Emperor Hirohito to remain in office and form a new government. Since Konoye has been the most ardent champion of expansion, his retention as premier would hardly indicate a relaxation of Japanese efforts to extend control to the southeast. In fact, many observers, including some in England, are guessing that Japan will draw closer to the Axis orbit as a result of the shakeup.

Undoubtedly, one purpose of the cabinet resignations was that of finding a scapegoat for the dilemma in which Japan is immersed. Former Foreign Minister Matsuo is chosen for the role. It was he who was mainly responsible for the pact which last September brought Japan officially into the Axis family. And a few months later he personally negotiated the non-aggression pact with Russia, hoping, no doubt, to kill one bird with two stones. But when Germany invaded Russia, the conflicting obligations of the two commitments became intolerable, and Matsuo was on the spot.

Two things increased Japan's embarrassment. The United States promised all possible aid to Russia, and Great Britain signed a mutual assistance pact with the Soviet, including a pledge not to sign a separate truce or peace without mutual consent. Germany helped trouble the waters by charging encirclement of Japan by the democracies. Tokyo found itself with commitments both ways and support from neither.

Now there is bound to be a clarification of Tokyo policy—a clarification likely to result in a Japanese move either to the southeast or against Russia. But about the only manner in which the Axis can help Japan is by pressure on Russia in the west. Violation of the non-aggression pact with Russia through an attack in the east would expose Japan's cities, with their flimsy houses, to devastating air raids by strong Soviet units known to be stationed on the Pacific. A move into French Indo-China would involve Great Britain and possibly the United States.

Balancing the advantages and disadvantages, it might be thought that the prospect of co-operation with England and America would appeal to the rank and file of a nation already weakened by a long war in China and isolated from its present allies by thousands of miles. But in a totalitarian nation the opinions of the rank and file do not count.

Bermuda is drought-stricken and America is shipping water to its forces there. By adding the juice of an onion, they will have quite a drink.

This Russo-German scrap is producing military communiques to fit all prejudices.

One industry that is never closed by strikes is the array of propaganda machines.

AYS AMERICAS WILL GROW OWN RUBBER

Experiments Indicate Rubber Can Be Cultivated in Central and South America

EXPERIMENTS ARE MADE

By Ed Newman
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 25 — (INS) — Rubber is coming home.

So declared J. J. Blandin, vice-president of the Goodyear Rubber Plantations Co., in an article in "Agriculture of the Americas," a monthly publication of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations of the Department of Agriculture. It is the national emergency that is bringing it back to the Western Hemisphere, he asserted.

In 1910, Blandin pointed out, American manufacturers, particularly those of the fast-growing automobile industry, found that the supply of rubber from the Amazon River Valley would not be sufficient for their purposes. That fact, coupled with an increase in prices charged by Brazilian producers, moved them to look elsewhere for their rubber. They found it in Sumatra, Malaya, Ceylon, and the Dutch islands, and have drawn the main part of their rubber from these sources ever since.

With the development of American interest in foreign plantations, the American industrial system took a hand, Blandin continued. American companies began a drive to reduce costs, to develop methods on foreign plantations which would be applicable to American production. This involved offsetting in some way the wage differential between the countries of the Middle East and those of Latin America.

These companies undertook a scientific program of terracing and drainage control to fight erosion. They planted leguminous crops between the rubber trees to add to the fertility of the soil, established a modern transportation system and set up miniature factories to process the latex at its source. Thus they increased the average output per tree.

Through the employment of well-known agronomic and agricultural principles, such as cross-breeding, propagation of outstanding individuals, grafting, and the study of the five to seven year cycle of the rubber tree, according to Blandin, tremendous gains were made.

The results of the experimentation were transported to the Philippines, and having shown themselves successful there, to Panama and Costa Rica. In 1935, here, the planters ran into the leaf disease, which had ruined previous attempts at rubber production in Trinidad, and Dutch and British Guiana. The fight against this disease has gone forward, Blandin stated, and has been accelerated by the necessity, underlined by the European war, of producing rubber in this hemisphere.

Combined with the fight against the disease are new methods of production which make family-size plantations possible and profitable. Co-operation, Blandin, adds, has been obtained from Central and South American governments, and from private companies, all of whom have worked in concert with the Departments of State and Agriculture.

Thus, the future of rubber in this hemisphere, at least insofar as the actual production of it is concerned, seems assured, the Goodyear official declared. How soon it will be coming in volume comparable to the middle Eastern production is something else again, but Blandin thinks it will not be long.

The lone problem remaining is to make the production of rubber economic, rather than just an emergency activity, so that the countries which develop industries will not be left holding the bag when the war is over. Blandin is optimistic over that, too.

Kiwanians Hear of The Convention Sessions

During the evening, Past Lieut. Governor Elmer Menzies, of the Ambler club, was welcomed as a visitor. Another visitor was Kiwanian Frank Kopchey, assistant Boy Scout executive and director of Camp Minitek, Frenchtown, N. J., a member of the Camden Kiwanis Club. Birthday greetings were extended to Kiwanian James B. Fretz. Program Chairman D. Ralph Stone and his associates, Frank Worthington, Charles Mamounis and Frank Reynolds, announced that plans are being made for a "Doylestown Day" at Shibe Park, in co-operation with the Doylestown Chamber of Commerce. Members have been asked to furnish cars for this occasion.

Announcement was also made by President Goretlick of a meeting of the board of directors of the club to be held next Tuesday afternoon, July 29, at five o'clock at the Doylestown Inn.

father in the search. None could throw any light on the strange act. They state that the young man was apparently in a happy frame of mind, had steady employment as a time-keeper at Fleetwings, Inc., and they knew of no reason for him to disappear. It was the habit of the father and son to go to their Philadelphia home over the week-ends. At Ralph's place of employment, his co-workers stated they knew of no difficulties which might worry him.

When Mrs. Earl went to call him yesterday morning, Ralph's bedroom door was open and the front door was unlocked. His wallet and money remained in his room.

A description of the missing man gives his height at 6' 2", weight 145 pounds, complexion as light. His hair was dark.

Drastic Economic Reprisals Against Japan Are Planned

Counsel Edward Foley and his assistants were still at work. Significantly, earlier in the day, while the Cabinet meeting was still on, the White House sent for 30 copies of the June 14 order which froze all European credits except Great Britain, with the promise of special dispensation for nations still resisting the Axis powers.

The Presidential train left Washington last night about twenty minutes late to allow Mrs. Roosevelt, who is making the trip to Hyde Park, to escort her daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, to a late plane for Seattle. Reporters had no check on the President's callers during the late evening.

The President, addressing a group of Mayor LaGuardia's civil defense leaders—of which Mrs. Boettiger is a member—admitted frankly that the United States for two years had taken a "selfish viewpoint" in attempting to avert war in the Pacific by shipping oil and gasoline to the Japanese. Critical need of rubber, tin and other supplies which the United States gets only from French Indo-China, the Dutch East Indies and the Straits Settlements prompted the appeasing gesture despite this nation's long-time open denunciation of Japanese invasion of China.

Mr. Roosevelt put this explanation completely in the past tense and most definitely failed to say for the moment what new action might be expected.

SWALLOWS LIKE AIR BASE

MOFFET FIELD, Cal. — (INS) — The swallows come back to this army air base as well as to Capistrano. Scores of swallows have built their nests on the edge of hangar doors. Each evening, the doors must be closed, tumbling the nests and their eggs to the ground. Despite efforts to induce them to set up housekeeping elsewhere, the swallows stubbornly roost in trees during the night, and then return to rebuild their nests on the doors.

HELD ON THEFT CHARGES

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 — Five men, employees at Philadelphia State Hospital at Byberry, are being held in bail for court, the charge being that of stealing food from the men's kitchen. They are Michael Hall, 42, Bristol; Albert Harvey, 42, Negro, Plum street, near Mulberry; Marcellus Logan, 35, Negro, Harlan street, near 19th; Theodore Smith, 34, Negro, Mulberry St., near Wilmot; and Fred Ellis, 48, Negro, Margaret st. near Mulberry. Logan was arrested yesterday as he left the hospital when guards, following receipt of an anonymous letter, set a trap for him. He implicated the others, all of whom denied any part in the thefts.

Walter Hedrick, an assistant steward, told Magistrate Elias Myers that food had been disappearing for two years. He said that although the quantities taken at any one time were small, the total would amount to about $2,000.

come to grapple with the realities—if that is what he does think. Because, it seems incredible that a man in his position who sits down and looks closely at the picture will not feel impelled to action. There is not space here to present the details of what a look would reveal, but it is possible to mention several things which even a nearsighted man would be sure to see. Outstanding, of course, is the fact that for nearly seven years there has been no coherent nor consistent Federal fiscal policy, except that of expensively expanding the Federal Government and pouring the Treasury billions out in all directions far faster than they could be taken in.

THIS was not Mr. Morgenthau's policy. It was wished on him and he had no alternative to acquiesce except to resist. He could not bring himself to do that, but there is no doubt that he has suffered. What Mr. Morgenthau now will see, in a close look, is that this spending policy, before the war, had piled some 23 billions on top of a debt of 21 billions; that since the defense program was inaugurated billions more have been added until the total now approaches 50 billions; that when the arms spending, now planned, is completed we will be well on our way to 100 billions. This is a staggering prospect, but it is made more so by the inadequacy of the steps taken to meet it.

MR. MORGENTHAU is certain to see all this, and more, in the picture at which he now proposes to look closely. For example, he will see that the pending drastic tax bill to raise 12 billions of dollars, will fall far short of the Treasury needs; also that it is unscientific and political. He will see further that his own insistence and the President's, supported by the head of the Federal Reserve Board, that every non-defense expenditure should be "pared to the bone" has been ignored. On the contrary, he will see that the normal governmental expenses have gone up instead of down and that his suggestion that a billion dollars might be lopped off has been forgotten.

AND, if his eyes are good, Mr. Morgenthau also will see that the budget submitted by the President last January was a trick budget; that we are now operating on the double-budget system, under which no one can tell just where we are at any time; that the recent farm parity act has pulled the financial structure still further out of shape, and that there are pending schemes, which, if enacted, will tear it to pieces. Also, if he looks carefully, Mr. Morgenthau may discern in the picture such economic excrescences as the Administration's silver policy and various useless and costly gadgets, such as the Office of Government Reports. There is also to be seen in the fiscal picture the swollen NYA and many evidences of waste in the expenditure of defense funds. It will likewise be difficult to overlook that there are extremely few inflation curbs and many inflationary pressures.

ALTOGETHER, Mr. Morgenthau will not find it a pretty picture, but he is everlastingly right when he says that it is time to take a close look at it. Perhaps the look will inspire, or frighten, him into action of a kind to make it less grotesque and terrible. No one knows better than he what needs to be done. The reason he has done so little to date is because he has had no encouragement from the White House to apply the principles of the multiplication table to Treasury transactions—rather the reverse. Perhaps the close view may induce him to stop looking upon such men as Senator Byrd and Mr. B. M. Baruch, who

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

To buy the things needed, or for which one can see a legitimate future need, while prices are reasonable, or excitingly cut, should be the purchasing policy of every efficient shopping "budgeteer."

Why not restock the linen closet for the next several years? Just now you can do this at a most substantial saving, at the advance August "White Sale" in Snellenburg's Bed Muslin Dept. Those in the know are buying a dozen sheets at a time, and matching cases. High quality percale and muslin sheets and cases in practically all sizes. From leading manufacturers, but sold anonymously because of slight defects. This is our good fortune—yours and mine. Other reductions, too, especially in good quality Turkish towels. Browse about!

Calling all real gardeners! At last the spray problem has been solved for amateurs. Snellenburg's Garden Dept. supplies three different sprays in one kit. No. 1 is for repelling and killing insects, etc. No. 2 for killing by contact. No. 3 for curing plant diseases. Price $1.50. Potential quantity 16 qts. A $4 kit makes 64 qts., and if you're a lucky toff with a swank estate you can order in greater quantity and wangle a still greater saving. Name—"Tri-O-Gen." Try it and see the bugs and grubs and skittery things skeddaddle!

Men's summer dispositions improve when "air conditioned" suits are worn. Lure your males to Snellenburg's Palm Beach suit sale, now going on. This shop's well cut Palm Beach numbers are boys even at their regular price of $17.75, and it's surprising to find advanced cuts of the garments at only $13.95. I would suggest even one or two extra suits for next year. Men like the clean whites, the famous "Jute" tone suits, the pecans, commuter tones, etc. There are short models, tall, mediums, stouts, etc. This famous cool cloth is rightly called "cloth of open windows."

All females should have two or three favorite toilet waters at hand, especially in summer. Not only do they help to increase one's allure, but they make one like even oneself—equally important psychologically! Men particularly like us to use the lighter flower scents in hot weather. Snellenburg's 1st fl. Toilet Goods Dept. now offers us Houblin's own ravishing "Wistaria" toilet water at $1, plus a gift of a most efficient tiny atomizer which fits right upon the bottle top. All pretty enough for any week-end hostess, too!

The early August Furniture Sale of a shop, which even normally is noted for astounding values in furniture, is the talk of the town. Due to clever purchasing, the Snellenburg Furniture Dept. is now a Mecca for my most knowing "Budgeteers." From every corner of the department lovely pieces fairly sing out for customer attention. For those who like modern design, there are tempting reductions in the famous "Conant-Ball" furniture. Mellow traditional designs are likewise priced at less. Remember to wander through the perfect "Thrifty House" rooms! Sale prices.

At no other shop have I seen such a clever assortment of the newer luggage as at Snellenburg's 1st fl. Luggage Dept. Streamlined and utterly swank, even the inexpensive pieces have decided class. Prices amazingly low, with merchandise threatening to rocket. The Luggage Dept. specializes in "matching" your bags—if you wish. Some airplane tweed bags are snappy. Such a hat and shoe combination bag (other things will tuck in) costs $6.95, as do pullman and wardrobe cases. Smaller bags proportionately less. Stop here first!

Would you eliminate fatigue from summer ironing? Visit Snellenburg's House Furnishings Dept. and see demonstrated the new "Never Lift" speed iron. The beauty glides over a garment as gracefully and effortlessly as an expert skater. At a finger touch the iron lifts itself from a garment. And there's actually a dim front light for ironing in a dim corner. I never saw the like! Price? Why, $12.95, and worth every penny. A small additional price, and a tiny tank transforms the "Never Lift" into a steam iron to be used on dry clothes!

The men will like the "Marlboro" and "Airman" cool mesh shirts now on sale in the 1st fl. Men's Furnishings Dept. of Snellenburg's store. Formerly $1.65 to $1.95, they can be had for $1.35 or 3 for $4. Quite open mesh, though by no means of the people-hole variety, they are perfect for summer weather. Well cut and front light for ironing in a dim corner. I never saw the like! Price? Why, $12.95, and worth every penny. A small additional price, and a tiny tank transforms the "Never Lift" into a steam iron to be used on dry clothes! Again I recommend buying a quantity.

Don't forget that summer sales are reaping times for real "Budgeteers." Go exploring. Do tell the shop folks I tipped you off. Cheerio! "F. C."

Versatile Juvenile To Star
In "What A Life" at Yardley

George Abbott's comedy success, "What A Life," the play of high school frailties which introduced Henry Aldrich to American theatre-goers, is announced for production the week of July 28th by Nat Burns, managing director of the Yardley Theatre, Yardley, Pa. Henry Jones, who has established himself as one of the theatre's most versatile and capable young juveniles, is starred by the Yardley Theatre in the role of the luckless Henry Aldrich—the hapless youth who has won a place in the hearts of Americans on the stage, the screen, and through the popular radio serial, "The Aldrich Family."

Henry Jones comes to the Yardley Theatre direct from a year's tour in William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life." He was a member of the Maurice Evans Shakespearean troupe, appearing in "Hamlet" and "Henry IV," both in New York City and on tour.

Mary New will be cast as Miss Shea, the secretary; Irene Brodowski takes over the Betty Field role; Harry McHaffey plays the principal in the piece, and Kathryn Cameron is Mrs. Aldrich. Henry's mother, "What A Life" is staged by Nat Burns, the setting by Barry Mansfield.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

A heart-warming, gay screen romance between a simple, rough-hewn backwoodsman and a dance hall hostess will be on view when Paramount's "Reaching for the Sun" opens today at the Bristol Theatre. The film stars Joel McCrea and Ellen Drew.

Film fans who like plenty of action and good comedy plus a nice serving of romance are going to enjoy the bill at the Bristol Theatre, where "Trail of the Silver Spur" starring "The Rangebustlers" opens today.

GRAND THEATRE

The love story of a lonely heart finding a strange partnership that leads to murder, furnishes Joan Crawford with the most gripping role of her career in "A Woman's Face," now showing at the Grand Theatre. Miss Crawford runs the gamut from ugliness to beauty, appearing first as a woman horribly scarred and shunned by society, and later, through plastic surgery, as a glamorous but dangerous criminal until her love for a child brings regeneration.

Melvyn Douglas shares stellar honors as the plastic surgeon who restores the mutilated girl to beauty and affects her regeneration, the dramatic role coming in sharp contrast to his recent comedy part in "This Thing Called Love." Also brilliantly cast is Conrad Veidt as the criminal madman whose sinister power over the girl drives her to murder in order to save the child she has come to love.

RITZ THEATRE

Exactly the same system which Florenz Ziegfeld and his stage director, Ney Wayburn, used for the selection of their Follies beauties was followed in choosing the showgirls for "Ziegfeld Girl," spectacular musical coming to the Ritz Theatre for a two-day engagement.

Ziegfeld believed that a pretty face was the first requisite, then an attractive figure. Next he required a girl to be able to dance, or at least to be able to carry herself gracefully.

TULLYTOWN

Mrs. Catherine Slager has been ill. A Tuesday visitor of Mrs. Slager was her son, Harry Sullivan, Florence, N. J.

Mrs. Ralph Roberts and infant son, Harold have returned to their home on the Oxford Road.

Mrs. Christopher A. Johnson was a Tuesday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell, Cedar Brook, N. J.

The Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Gaskill were recent visitors of relatives in Norwood.

SAN JOSE, Cal.—(INS)—Upon a tip from a county jail inmate that the body of a woman in a sack was at a nearby hobo "jungle," Deputy Sheriff George Pine sped to investigate. The sack contained half of a department store

I know who killed her, too." "Who?" queried Pine sarcastically. "Thasha shearer," said the prisoner owlishly, and fell asleep.

SEVEN RUNS IN 5TH GIVE EDGELY NINE MUCH-NEEDED WIN

Puts Team in Deadlock With Four Others for League's
Second Place

DOWN VOLTZ-TEXACO

Outburst of Runs is Surprise
To Everyone; Tilt Ends
at 9 to 3

EDGELY, July 25—A big fifth inning in which seven runs were scored gave the Edgely A. C. the much-needed victory which put them in a deadlock with four other teams for second place in the Bristol Suburban League. They downed Voltz-Texaco.

The seven-run outburst was a surprise to everyone as Hal Shackleton had been pitching good ball. He ran into trouble in the fourth but got out of it so easily that the fans were settled for a close ball game.

But when Felkner singled and Hunter doubled, trouble began to brew in the fifth. Then came some lazy playing on the part of the Voltz-Texaco team and after Ralph Linck cleaned the bags with a single to right, it was the end of the gasoleros. Cooper relieved Shackleton to finish out the fifth.

The Voltz-Texaco team meets Diamond this evening and a victory for the gasoleros over the Big Green will tighten the race so close that with the exception of the St. Ann's team, every club will be in the running for the second half crown.

DICK IS POUNDED FOR TOTAL OF ELEVEN HITS

The Middletown team pounded out Stanley Dick for eleven hits last evening on the Maple Beach team as they scored in the last three innings to defeat the Rohm and Haas team, 3-1, in a well-played contest.

Matthew Biedka did the hurling for the winning team and held the first-half Bristol Suburban champions to six hits, blanking them until the last inning. Biedka also aided his team with the stick, getting two out of three. House, of Middletown, and Dick, of the chemical workers, also had two out of three.

The teams will meet in a return game Monday evening on the Langhorne high school field.

HOME-RUN BY SAK AIDS FLEETWINGS TO VICTORY

A home run from the bat of "Teddy" Sak aided the Fleetwings team to register a 3-1 victory over St. Ann's A. A. last evening on the Saints' field. As the result of the victory, Fleetwings moved to within one-half game of second place in the Suburban League.

Sak's homer to right field, followed a tremendous blow by Joe Bounds who also circled the bases but had failed to touch first base and was declared out. Sak's homer deadlocked the score while in the following inning the aircraft workers counted twice to grab the tilt.

The pitching for the teams was done by Karl Leinheiser who was the winning hurler and Mike Delisi who pitched for the St. Ann's team.

BADENHAUSEN SECURES A CLOSE WIN OVER "ODDIES"

EDDINGTON, July 25—A three-run rally in the fifth inning gave the Badenhausen team a close 6-5 victory over the Odd Fellows last evening on Turner's field. It was a three-bagger by Norman Tetterer which gave the boiler-makers the triumph.

Going into the last half of the fifth, the Oddies were enjoying a 5-3 lead. "Eddie" Sullivan was showing signs of weakening when both Whyte and Vandegrift got hits. Here Turner Ashby relieved the southpaw and he immediately loaded the bags by hitting Goodwin with a pitch.

The stage was now all set for Tetterer, a Temple University student. Norm picked one to his liking and sent it soaring along the left field line for a triple to clean the bags. On a short passed ball by the plate, Tetterer attempted to score and was put out but he had done the damage.

The winning moundsman was Harvey Rigby who held the Odd Fellows to five hits. As Ashby was pitching when the tying and winning runs were scored, he is charged with the defeat.

The victory was a juicy one for the Badenhausen team as it put them in second half.
